

RFID based identification system for archive funds, library stocks and museum funds

Reader accounting and library stock accounting are performed automatically by means of RFID equipment.

New solutions are integrated with the library automation systems currently in force. This ensures that the main technological processes will remain the same for the librarian staff.